

Discussion Guide: Fitness Tech & Habit Formation

Intro

Thank you so much for taking the time to speak with me today. I'm a student at the California College of the Arts working on a project around "at home health and fitness". I'm hoping to learn from your experience in [as a project advisor and health tech]. Our conversation today will be solely for educational purposes. There are no right or wrong answers. With your permission, I'd like to [take notes / record this conversation] so I can focus on listening. The session should take about 30 minutes. Any questions before we begin?

Icebreaker

- What was your favorite subject in school?

Questions

- Where do you work?
- What is your current role?
- What has your career path been like so far?
- What are your thoughts on the problem of busy individuals quitting their home workouts because they lack time, motivation or struggle with consistency?
- In your opinion, what is the best way to solve the problem? (Note: Let them answer fully before revealing your idea!)

- We're thinking about a smart mirror that acts as a workout companion, using your daily schedule and behavior to create a tailored workout plan for you. What are your thoughts on this approach?
- Is there anything we didn't ask that you think is important for us to consider?
